Creating Culturally Sustaining PBIS Systems: Centering Equity in our Work

During this interactive session, participants will explore a framework that centers equity and culturally sustaining practices supportive of culturally and linguistically diverse students (CLDS) within PBIS Systems. Examples of technical and adaptive solutions will be shared.

Ruthie Payno-Simmons, Michigan's Integrated Behavior and Learning Supports Initiative

Opening Session - Thursday 8:00 am - 9:30 am

Opening Session

Riverfront Hall

We will welcome you to the 17th International Conference on Positive Behavior Support and share some important information to enhance your experience at the conference. Then, we will present the Ted Carr Early Practitioner award followed by the APBS Leadership Awards. After the President and Executive Director of APBS share some information about the future of APBS, the recipients of the APBS Leadership Awards, Drs. Barry McCurdy and Rob Horner, will each share a brief presentation about their vision for the future of PBS.

Equity and School Discipline Practices

How do implicit bias impact discipline in schools? Educators face many new students every year and as students interact with one another, we begin to make crucial observations that will affect perceptions and expectations of students. Regardless of how much we believe we're open-minded, the reality is that our subconscious is at work.
