Raising Resilience! An innovative approach to addressing challenging students.

The research is clear: Out of school suspensions do not work to correct challenging behaviors or promote positive school climate. Raising Resilience! provides an alternative to exclusionary practices by teaching students the missing social-emotional skills necessary to change behavior. Through a combination of individual lessons, restorative practices, and coaching with a trained staff member, the Raising Resilience! model significantly reduces challenging behavior.

Raising Resilience! Includes:

- Individual Lessons that address the most common types of challenging behaviors by teaching decision-making skills, growth mindset, resiliency, compassion and empathy.
- The RR staff toolkit includes necessary forms, classroom design and, coaching suggestions - everything you need to develop a strong model to meet the needs of your school site.
- Technical assistance at each step of implementation.
